GRUNDÉNS

Welcome.

You'll hear the word "trust" being talked about just about every day here at Grundens. Whether we're checking in with one of our Ambassadors to make sure they have the right gear for their next MLF tournament or collaborating on a new product design, we're constantly striving to be the most trusted brand in fishing through both our actions and the products we create. It's been at the heart of what Grundens is all about since we started nearly 100 years ago, providing gear to protect fisherman from the harsh conditions we often find ourselves in as we each pursue our love of fishing.

That commitment hasn't changed, it's at the forefront of our minds each and every day we come to work.

Over the following pages of this SS23 work book, you'll see that commitment in each category of products we make. From new models in our GORE-TEX outerwear line, new silhouettes and fabric offerings in Sportswear, a very successful and expanding footwear offering, plus our ongoing commitment to reduce our impact on our oceans with compostable packaging and the use of recycled fabrics in many of our products. It's all part of our on-going commitment to make the very best and most trustworthy gear available.

We greatly appreciate your commitment to Grundens and look forward to continuing this journey together

David Mellon

Grundens CEO

THE GORE-TEX® MEMBRANE

The extremely thin ePTFE membrane is the heart of GORE-TEX® fabrics and what makes it durably waterproof, windproof, and breathable. One square inch of the membrane has over 9 billion pores. The amazing part is that these pores are actually 20,000 times smaller than a water droplet, but 700 times larger that a water vapor molecule. That is what makes the GORE-TEX® membrane functionally waterproof, while at the same time allowing perspiration to escape from the inside. All GORE-TEX® membranes except for GORE-TEX® Pro have an oleophobic (oil-hating) layer of very thin Polyurethane on the inside to protect the pores from sweat and body oils that can clog them. Unlike all other GORE-TEX® membranes, GORE-TEX® Pro uses a 100% ePTFE membrane with two thin layers of ePTFE laminate sandwiching a very thin band of ePTFE with a different microstructure instead of the PU layer and offers up to 28% more breathability because of it.

2-LAYER OR 3-LAYER | HOW IT WORKS

GORE-TEX* garments come in 2-layer and 3-layer construction depending on the desired purpose. Garments made with GORE-TEX 2-layer fabric are available in a wide variety of outer fabrics. They're the versatile solution for style, comfort, and protection against the elements. Garments made with GORE-TEX 3-layer fabric offer added durability without extra bulk.

GORE-TEX PACLITE® GARMENTS

GORE-TEX Paclite® Plus garments use a 2-layer unlined construction. This makes them thin, light, and highly packable – and also durably waterproof, windproof, and extremely breathable. The new abrasion resistant treatment of the inner surface ensures that garments are longer lasting, offering more reliable protection. This treatment also makes them easier to slip on and off, and more comfortable to wear when you're active.

GORE-TEX® GARMENTS WITH STRETCH TECHNOLOGY

GORE-TEX Garments with STRETCH technology offer freedom of movement, comfortable jacket layering and a trim fit in a waterproof, windproof and breathable jackets.

RELAXED FIT

Relaxed fit is our traditional fit, built from the same fit block as the original Brigg Jacket and Herkules™ Bib. This fit allows for more ease around the body, creating mechanical ventilation in PVC garments, and offers a more generous fit for bulkier layers underneath.

ACTIVE FIT

Built with less ease to offer a more performance fit and increased range of motion. Active Fit is designed to work with technical layering systems, to optimize breathability. Offering a wide range of layering options for versatility and adaptability in changing conditions.
